

Pennsylvania's natural legacy. Your legacy at Penn State Wilkes-Barre.

The Marcellus Shale energy resources are helping create prosperity for families and communities throughout the Commonwealth. Through a gift to Penn State Wilkes-Barre, you can sustain that prosperity for future generations. Energy resources will someday be exhausted, but by planning now, you can leave a legacy for your family and your community. Your philanthropic gifts can fund scholarships for students in need and support programs that make a real difference in the quality of life in northeastern Pennsylvania. Endowments, be-quests, and other gifts to Penn State Wilkes-Barre can represent your enduring commitment to the people of our region.

Our development staff wants to help you express your values and ideals through philanthropy. The University's Office of Gift Planning can work with you and your adviser to take advantage of your mineral and gas interests by deferring taxes to help you meet your personal financial goals and provide a source of income for you, your family, and your community. By reaching out to our team today, you can energize our shared future.
